APPENDIX A.

(QUESTION No. 1.)

Note on Work in connection with the Improvement of Sugar-cane Cultivation in Mysore from 1916-1919.

1. Experiments extending over the past six years have shown that Red Mauritius cane gives on an average over 25% higher yield than our local patta-patti. Its introduction was taken up by the Department about three years ago and it is estimated that now over 1,000 acres are under this variety in the State. The introduction of Red Mauritius cane on this area probably represents an increase in production of at least Rs. 1,00,000 which is of course certain to increase from year to year with the expansion of cultivation of this variety. Other varieties are being originated by breeding which promise to give a larger return than Red Mauritius. These will be introduced as soon as they have been thoroughly tested. They are being tested on private holdings this year.

2. Manuring of sugar-cane.—During the years under reference a total of 1,221 tons of oil cake were distributed by the Agricultural Department as manures for sugar-cane.

3. Improvement of cultivation.—During the three years under reference 3,841 ploughs were distributed by the Department. Of these a considerable number are being used in preparing land for sugar-cane leading to a marked saving in the cost of cultivation. Experiments on improvements in cultivation methods have been going on at Hebbal and Babbur and results will be available for demonstration shortly.
